THE ADVENTURES OF CURIOUS GANZ

Sat 15 Feb
15:00 & 19:00

A scientist is born! From the very beginning of time our hero Ganz is Curious. His investigations bring him to the attention of Queen Lizzy the First, a fellow adventurer, if only she could escape her skirts... Told through design, table-top puppetry, music and a few words, it is a celebration of the new, the strange, the brave and the curious!

An ingenious and visually sumptuous show that is as joyous as it is profound Children's Theatre Review

Music from Devoran Acoustic Sessions

There is lots of great music coming up this year from Devoran Acoustic Sessions. Starting with Phillip Henry (Edgelarks & Gigsaner Big Band). Then Miranda Sykes and new pairing of John Spiers & Jackie Oates before the summer break

Phillip Henry
Saturday 1st February
7.30pm (doors 7.00pm)
Devoran Village Hall
£12.50

Following the success of his critically acclaimed 2018 solo album, True North, Phillip Henry returns to the road in 2020. His new show, Solo, continues to explore the virtuosic limits of his many instruments, from the 22-string Indian chatturangui, to the Dobro and National guitars that made his name. He will also bring his showstopping skill on the harmonica, with train impressions, boogie blues, and his trademark beatbox harmonica that never fails to get the party started.

Joli Boutique
16/1/2020

Press Release

BEE BOMBASTIC!

Local independent eco-conscious retailer Joli Boutique celebrate first year of trading with a bang, a Bee Bomb Bang! Get your hands dirty, discover, create and sow. Help your local environment be bee friendly!

Truro's Pannier Market is full of interesting stalls, from the practical to the aesthetic. Cobblers, seamstress & wool to antiques, vinyl and stamps! 1st February 2019 saw Joli Boutique open the shutters. Specialising in holistic, organic, eco-friendly beauty and lifestyle, myriad handmade items and luxurious PETA approved Vegan refillable makeup, found in Cornwall exclusively at JB. Aiming to deliver great value for a loyal local customer base, sustainability & less waste. A year on, this eclectic, reused, repurposed furnished, little corner of the Pannier Market, is ready to launch phase 2!

Kimberly Oram, founder said, "At Joli Boutique we are passionate about the natural world and environment. 'One small change' is a buzz phrase at the moment. I think through education and practical application of change we can improve the planet's future. Our hands on Bee Bomb workshop is just the first of many eco conscious creative sessions. Join us to make bug mansions and bee houses later in the year!"

With a bespoke locally sourced organic seed mix, a Bee Bomb Making workshop for all budding bee enthusiasts will be running undercover in Tinner's Court, Pannier Market, Truro, on Saturday 1st February 2020 from 11 – 4pm. For tickets book in via <https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/90598310987> to guarantee your Bee Bombs experience. A fun & informative "Bee Trail" will send you buzzing around the Market, prizes for colouring competition, and a raffle in aid of the Wildlife Trusts. DIY Bee Bomb box's to take home available too.

Why bother about Bees?

These little black and yellow stripy critters come in right at the top of survival essential list for our eco-system. Without a thriving bee population we could go very hungry. Bees pollinate 1/3 of the food we eat, and 80% of flowering plants. Livestock also rely on them to pollinate the crops grown to feed them. There are other ways to pollinate, but wild bees are a natural and efficient way of getting the job done on a big scale. Should UK farmers have to manually pollinate their crops it would cost an estimated £1.8 billion per year.

The bee population is in decline globally due to factors such as loss of habitat and toxic pesticide usage. Many of the threats to bees parallel with the threats to trees and woodland, so saving bees goes hand-in-hand with saving trees.

The big question is... where will you let your Bee Bomb explode? Is it destined for a guerrilla gardening adventure... or going home to a bare patch of garden? Sowing your Bee Bomb in March will be perfect timing and you can post your Bee Bomb's journey on the Joli Bee Facebook community group and share as your bee friendly patch grows. Let's make Cornwall Bee friendly, one Joli B Bee Bomb at a time!

Quick and Loose Watercolour

with John Hopkins

Watercolour Mon 27th April 10am - 4pm £70

In this workshop John will show how to depict a street scene and a harbour scene, using a quick and loose watercolour technique. He will talk a little about linear and aerial perspective and how to create a good composition. Each student will receive some one-to-one tuition during the day and those who paint at a faster speed can practice new brush techniques and exercises. By the end of the workshop you will have created both a street and harbour painting.

John studied illustration at Birmingham College of Art, and has enjoyed a career as a successful freelance artist, working in all mediums, but specialising in watercolour. He prefers to work in a fast, loose, impressionistic style but always with the emphasis on good drawing skills.

John enjoys giving watercolour demonstrations to art societies and teaches painting to groups of adults. He continues to work commercially, exhibits his paintings widely and has won many awards. He undertakes private commissions including more detailed animal studies and tries to find time to indulge his passion for en plein-air painting and figurative work. John is an associate member of the RBSA, a member of the Birmingham Watercolour Society and is represented by the highly regarded Harbour Gallery, Porthscatho, which represents some of the best contemporary artists in the UK.

CAN YOU HELP US?

Do you have some spare time, and would like to help with the running of the village hall?

We are looking for a new volunteer Secretary to deal with queries relating to the hall, answer emails, liaise with other committee members and prepare agendas for meetings four times a year.

(This does not involve taking minutes as we have a separate minutes secretary)

If you are interested and would like to find out more please

email: dvhsecretary@gmail.com or telephone Kate Williams on 07970 850463
